“

With over 2000 years of history, Braga is the oldest Portuguese city and one of the most ancient Catholic cities in the world. It was coined by the Romans as Bracara Augusta.

The municipality is divided in 37 civil parishes and has a resident population of about 200.000 people.

I propose a walk around town, to discover history and museums that takes us back to different eras and themes.

This is your chance to learn by observing the monuments, the streets, the squares and the parks all around.
